Drive To Smash Enemy On Leyte In Final Stages

Gen. MacArthur's Infantry
Pressing Home Envelop-

Ormoc Area

ABOUT 45,000 JAPS

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 15.—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's new drive to smash the last Japanese stronghold on embattled Leyte Island was in full swing today, with the 24th Infantry pressing home an enveloping movement through the mountains of the Ormoc sector.

The tough, slugging Doughboys made their move to break up a bloody stalemate brought on by driving rains by maneuvering through the mountains southwest of Pinamporan and hammering against the Yamashita line below Limon.

Terrific Bombardment
The newest push was preceded by a terrific artillery bombardment, which not only knocked out numerous Jap gun emplacements but also caused heavy casualties.

As the Yankees fought their way into and past Limon, they found grim evidence of the effectiveness of the artillery bombardment. One region near Limon was littered with at least 600 Jap dead.

As the infantry pushed ahead registering small but important gains, the artillery kept up its murderous fire, pouring hundreds of 155 millimeter shells into Ormoc itself, last remaining stronghold of the Japs on Leyte Island.

Major Assault On Western Front Near

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Despite optimistic predictions that Metz is about to fall, it is wise not to jump at conclusions until the results are actually written on the battle in letters of blood.

The famous military analyst—Brigadier General Horace Sewell of the New York office of British Information services—states: "The capture of Metz and its surrounding fortresses by direct assault would be an almost insurmountable task and Patton's object seems to be rather to conduct a general offensive to isolate the area."

Expect Terrific Battle
For some time past German news agencies have been stating they expect a terrific battle to explode into action anytime on their western front. A terrific battle in which Nazi commentators state 5 million men will take part. That would indicate that the German war lords expect this assault to be made on the entire length of their western front.

British Force Nazis Back In Forli Sector

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, NOV. 15.—German resistance stiffened today in the face of intensified British Eighth Army attacks that pressed the enemy further back in the vicinity of Forli.

Units of the Eighth Army continued their advance northwest beyond Forli and scored new advances west of the town, according to the Allied high command in the Mediterranean which also revealed that an all-Indian division attached to the American Fifth Army might be expected to take action on the Italian front.

Good Progress
General Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, supreme commander of the Allied forces, said the Eighth Army's advances could be described as "good progress" in the Forli area.

Northwest of the town, British troops pushed beyond the village of San Tomè. Nazi opposition was stubborn.

Advancing westward of Forli from their bridgeheads across the Montone river, other British units overran the town of Villa Grappa and captured the elevated positions on Monte Poggio. The drive west of Forli carried the Tommies to a general line two miles north of the Montone.

PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 15.—Japanese shipping, ground installations and air strength in the Manila area reeled today from another heavy blow struck by swarms of U. S. carrier planes in continued naval support of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's Philippine liberation drive.

The latest strike against the enemy in and around the Manila Bay region, according to a Pacific Fleet Headquarters communique, was carried out Sunday with the attacking American aircraft bagging at least 14 Japanese ships.

Destroyers Blown Up
A light enemy cruiser was heavily damaged, two destroyers were blown up and an estimated 11 cargo vessels and oilers were sunk or left blazing furiously by Hellcat fighters, Avenger torpedo planes and Hell-Diver bombers from carrier task groups of the Pacific Fleet.

In addition, 28 Jap interceptors were shot down and an estimated 130 to 140 single and twin-engine enemy planes caught on the Le-gaspi, Manila and Clark airstrips were riddled with machine gun fire.

Over 500 Blood Donors Are Still Needed In City

Blood donors are responding in increasing numbers to the need for a full schedule for the mobile unit of the Blood Donor Service of the Red Cross now in New Castle until November 22 at the First Presbyterian Church. A full schedule means that New Castle is doing all it can to supply the blood that is needed for processing into plasma.

But today 561 donors are still needed if New Castle is to reach its quota of 1800 pints of blood.

Tuesday's contribution was 211 pints making the total for the first two days 426 pints.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Martha McHattie was a sixth time donor. Miss Sara McCoy and Luther Shaffer gave for the fifth time, and Mrs. Florence Covert, Mrs. Grace Huling, Mrs. W. E. Nelson, Mrs. E. D. Kelly, Howard McCoy, Ralph Johnston, and George Wilson were four time donors.

No Contribution To War Effort, No Peace Table Seat

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(INS)—Britain's minister of state for foreign affairs, Richard K. Law, served notice today that the British government is opposed to having any nation which failed to make a positive contribution to the allied war effort represented in peace discussions.

The statement constituted a virtual rejection of the bid by Generalissimo Francisco Franco for Spanish participation at the peace talks.

"So far as the British government is concerned they see no reason why any country which has not made a positive contribution to the United Nations war effort should be represented at the peace conference or at any discussion of peace settlement," Law said in the House of Commons.

MOSCOW, Nov. 15.—Hurting the Germans westward of the Danube, Soviet forces today won almost complete control of the famed river from the Black Sea to Budapest, and near the Hungarian capital, other Red Army units closed off enemy communications in new sledge hammer blows directed against the city.

Occupy Towns
The Russian communique announced that General Rodion Y. Malinovsky's second Ukrainian forces occupied the towns of Dunagyizsaz and Solt, 45 miles south of Budapest, liquidating an enemy force on the east bank of the Danube and seizing the Solt railway station.

Elimination of the Nazi-Hungarian bridgehead enabled Soviet troops to hold a solid front along the east bank of the river from Belgrade to points within sight of Budapest and to control the stream as far south as the Black Sea.

More than 30 towns and villages were taken by Malinovsky's men, according to the communique, and, between Nov. 8 and Nov. 13, 7,700 German and Hungarian prisoners were captured, 3,600 of them within the last three days.

Resistance Faltering
Front line reports stated that enemy resistance is crumbling before Budapest and that the city soon will fall in a landslide Russian victory. Huge losses have been inflicted upon the defenders.

Trailer Camp Plans Progress

Preliminary Work Is To Be Started—Bids Opened
By Housing Authority

Within the next 60 days it is probable that New Castle will have a trailer camp located on Jackson avenue, with probably 350 trailers located there to accommodate shell line workers who will come into the city to be employed at various plants here.

Bids were opened in New York City on Tuesday by the Federal Public Housing Authority for the grading of Jackson avenue, the laying of sewer, water and electric lines and for placing foundations under the trailers. One New Castle firm, Leivo Brothers, bid on the general contract there are other sub-contract bids. Nothing is known today of the contract award, but it is estimated by contractors that the cost of the project will approximate $100,000.

The area where the trailers are to be placed covers about 32 acres. It will be necessary to cut Jackson avenue through from its present ending to Frank avenue, about 1200 feet. Sewers and water lines must be laid and electric lines strung.

This is the opinion just rendered by the British foreign office by Dr. William Brown, director of the Institute of Experimental Psychology at Oxford university.

Brown, who is the advisor to the British government on Hitler's mentality, is considered to be the greatest authority outside Germany on the fuhrer's mind. He has been making a special psychoanalytical study of Hitler for the British government since the former corporal rose to power in the Reich.

Gen. Patton Is Preparing For Final Attacks

Unless Germans Fight In Streets, Fate Of City Is Nearing Decision

ULTIMATUM FOR
METZ EXPECTED

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Foreign Editor)

The historic city of Metz, whose collapse under siege in 1870 led to Prussia's defeat of Louis Napoleon's France, lay less than two miles beyond the reach of the United States Third Army today and its capture by frontal assault—never before accomplished—appeared an imminent likelihood.

Two more of the long string of forts guarding the city's approaches fell into American hands and the troops of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., were well inside the belt of minefields, pill-boxes, anti-tank emplacements and permanent blockhouses which protect Metz.

Unless the Germans decide to fight in the streets and attempt to make of Metz another Stalingrad, fate of the city should soon be decided.

Town Itself Not Fortified
Metz itself is not fortified. It depends upon the carefully-designed network of new and old fortifications that surround it, and in past wars these have been virtually impregnable. The Prussians simply starved them out in a 54-day siege in 1870 and even that succeeded only because of some incredible bungling on the part of the French army.

Battlefront dispatches today said that not a single artillery shell has yet fallen into Metz proper, and the (Continued on Page Two)

A gust of rain, a cloud of mist, and not much sign of snow, it's fall all right but feels like spring, the weather's sixty-one.

In addition to the seven deaths there were 25 persons injured in hunting accidents compared to eight killed and 76 injured last year.

Parking meter receipts for the year 1944 are estimated to be several thousand dollars greater for the first 10 months than they were for the same period in 1943. Councilmen in estimating anticipated receipts, opined motorists would park to the extent of $21,000. It is now believed the receipts for the entire year will reach $24,000.

MAJOR ASSAULT ON WESTERN FRONT NEAR

line from the Vosges mountains in the south to Holland in the north. The German newsman state General Eisenhower has on hand at his command on that front between 2 and a half and 3 million fighting men. It would appear from the enemy propaganda reports that they are attempting to make the outside world believe they have an approximately equal number of Nazi soldiers defending that line. Again only the result of battle will tell whether or not that is correct.

Assault May Start

Preparations for this battle are completed and the Allied assault may commence at any moment. Gen. Patton's present attack may very easily be the prelude to such a terrific all-out battle. Allied supreme headquarters says that the next 24 to 36 hours may tell the tale as to whether or not the Nazis occupying the Metz fortifications intend to fight to the death.

During World War One major war activities on the western front such as great offensive attacks, stopped during the winter months. However that is no criterion for World War Two. The Russians have utterly disproved the theory that offensive action cannot be fought in winter. Their gains during the bad weather months in the past have been almost as phenomenal as during the summer.

numerous forts thus far taken appear to have been abandoned by the Germans in advance.

Within a few hours, Gen. Patton is expected to serve an ultimatum upon Metz commandant.

This will be an interesting test, for although Metz is traditionally a French city, Adolf Hitler incorporated it and the rest of surrounding Lorraine into Germany in 1940 and it will be up to the Nazi chieftain there to decide whether this is to become a second Aachen.

Only 2 Miles Away

SUPREMACY HEADQUARTERS
Allied Expeditionary Force, France, Nov. 15.—United States assault forces moved up through the outskirts of Metz today to within one and three-quarter miles of the city as Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., prepared to meet any determined German resistance inside the historic bastion with a furious artillery barrage.

Infantry men of the Fifth Division edged closer to the heart of Metz from the south and supreme headquarters reported that a general withdrawal of the enemy from the Metz area was continuing.

Two more forts on the approaches to Metz were captured by other Third Army troops driving in on the citadel from west of the Moselle river. The latest fortifications to fall were situated near Fort Driant, one of the larger defenses held by the Germans.

The Nazi forces withdrawing from the area were covered by fairly strong guard units, headquarters reported.

Counter-Attacks Repulsed
The Germans attempted some counter-attacks which were quickly repulsed and the Third Army intensified its pressure on the city from the north as well as the south. The British offensive in eastern Holland aimed at the strategic road junction of Venlo, near the Reich frontier made steady headway.

"All initial objectives have been won," a spokesman at headquarters of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery declared.

The Britons who attacked in the vicinity of Weert advanced 3,000 to 4,000 yards to the east to the junction of the Norder and Wessem canals.

"The enemy is withdrawing from the line of canals," the spokesman at headquarters of Field Marshal Montgomery said.

The British established several bridgeheads across the Noorder and Wessem canals this morning and sent patrols pushing forward. The British attack encountered only moderate opposition.

Village Liberated

In the advance the village of Eind was liberated.

Four bridgeheads now have been established in the Weert area. Enemy resistance, headquarters said, is "not too strong" and with the German troops being thinned out, progress is "fairly rapid."

South of the Third Army battlefield the American Seventh Army scored advances of approximately two miles northeast of Baccarat against only light opposition.

East of Bruyeres the Germans were forced back more than a mile and the village was freed.

Limited gains were scored by the French in the Belfort sector where the Germans offered stiff resistance along the flooded Doubs river.

Poor weather continued to restrict Allied aerial operations.

Before the forts west of Metz were captured a second echelon south of the city fell to Gen. Patton's Army.

Latest To Fall

Latest to fall was the Yser chain which the Nazis had abandoned in the same manner as the Aisne chain was sacrificed earlier. The principal opposition offered by the enemy consisted of fire from automatic weapons, and the big guns of Fort Driant and other strong fortifications remained strangely quiet.

While Gen. Patton sent his forces swooping in on Metz, reluctantly tightening a ring of encirclement about the city, the British Second Army in the Netherlands again went on the march to smash the Germans back from the western bank of the Meuse (Meuse) river near the Reich frontier.

South of Gen. Patton's battlefield the American Seventh Army simultaneously pressed an attack along a 10-mile front.

SIXTH WAR LOAN LEADERS GATHER TO START DRIVE

bonds upon demand. That was done, I believe, for several reasons. The war done to convince people that the bonds would not be frozen. There have been bonds redeemed, of course, some of them no doubt because of emergencies arising. In September there were $283,000,000 bonds redeemed, in October there were $400,000,000 redeemed. But the redemptions since May, 1941, to date are but 14.29 per cent.

Fourteen Billion

"The sixth war loan campaign calls for 14 billion dollars in bond sales. Between now and March 1945 the government plans to spend 72 billion dollars. Of this 95 per cent will be for war purposes and five per cent for civilian purposes. The money is available, our job is to get it."

Robert H. McClintock, chairman for the Port Pitt area, was the next speaker. Said he: "Many people think the war is about over. It isn't. We are losing 500 tanks every month in France alone. The expenditure of artillery ammunition is enormous. It takes money to prosecute a war and the money must come from the people. In the second loan only 25 per cent of the people were solicited. In the fifth loan this came up to 58 per cent but more people should be solicited. Our job on the home front is to sell bonds."

Payroll Deductions

Don Brockert, chairman of the payroll deductions in the state, spoke on the importance of bond sales through such deductions. He urged the cooperation of management and labor, the importance of getting started early, of accepting the quota and putting it over.

Henry Neill, local payroll deduction chairman, buttressed the remarks of Mr. Brockert and urged every industry in the county to make its quota.

A R. Heismann, treasury representative, was the last speaker. He lauded the record of Lawrence county in the past five drives and said he was confident the sixth would be put over in the same fine fashion.

Judge W. Walter Braham, chairman for Lawrence county, was the chairman of the dinner meeting and introduced the speakers. The quota for New Castle in the sixth war loan campaign which starts November 20 is $4,450,000.

air combat over Luzon and the other 19 near ships of the task group, one of which was damaged by enemy action. The damaged craft was not identified for security reasons.

A floating dock vitally needed by the Japanese for ship repair purposes, was hit by a torpedo and numerous docks in Manila Bay and at the Cavite navy base were thoroughly plastered, heaping new damage on top of the destruction wrought during previous carrier plane assaults.

Carrier task groups participating in the action, the communique disclosed, were under the tactical command of Rear Adm. Frederick C. Sherman, who was in command of the old carrier Lexington when it was sunk in the battle of the Coral Sea in 1942.

New air attacks on other enemy bases, including Palau, Koror and the Bonin Islands, also were reported.

Other Red Army detachments occupied the town of Szentmartonkara, a few miles northwest of Nagykat, and 34 miles east of Budapest.

Seizure of Szentmartonkara and Nagykat not only put new Soviet blocks on the rail line to Szolnok but severed Budapest from the fortress town of Jaszbereny, 30 miles due east of the Hungarian capital.

Fall of the Jaszbereny, now that its highways to Budapest are cut, was assured.

Railroads now are handling about two and one-half times the amount of freight traffic and more than four times the volume of passenger business they handled before the war, it was announced today.

DRIVE TO SMASH ENEMY ON LEYTE IN FINAL STAGE

Ormoc road from Hill 1525 and Mount Catabaran, to the northwest of Ormoc.

They also were supported by artillery fire which sent shell after shell into the hastily prepared defense positions erected by the Japs. As the ground troops pushed in from the north, south and east in the triple pronged drive to entrap the Japs in the Ormoc pocket, aerial observers reported the vital Ormoc road remained useless to the enemy. Any attempt of the estimated 45,000 Japs to break out of their trap would prove suicidal.

The Japs were fighting furiously, however, and hit Yankee supply lines and troop concentrations sporadically yesterday with mortar fire. At the same time, Jap warplanes continued their harassing raids on shipping and shore installations but these were termed by Gen. MacArthur as ineffectual.

American fighters and anti-aircraft crews shot down 13 Jap planes in the past 24 hours.

New Manpower Shortage Slows Vital Production

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Coming back from a tour around the country, you get something of a shock when you read that there's a new manpower shortage. Or maybe it's the same old manpower shortage in a new disguise.

You get a shock because practically everywhere you looked, out in the country, there seemed to be men enough for superfluous jobs. Hotels and places of entertainment are running full blast in a pale imitation of the boom of the late twenties.

Just a little investigation shows how acute the manpower shortages are in certain vital fields. In spite of General Eisenhower's telegram warning that it is necessary to ration the heavy artillery on the European front, each gun being given only enough shells for a limited period of fire, expected deliveries in coming months will not be adequate to meet military needs.

The shortage of cotton duck for tenting in the Philippines is acute. Schedules for the last quarter of this year will not be met.

The foundry industries have failed to meet production requirements, and one result is a shortage of heavy trucks. Radar production, vital to modern warfare, is considerably below military needs.

In the course of discussion on how to clear up these bad spots in an otherwise encouraging picture, a big propaganda campaign was proposed to shame the American people into a sense of failure. It was to be headlined by speeches from our military leaders describing the seriousness of these failures.

This proposal was vetoed by the War Manpower Commission. The argument used by WMC was that since the job was for the most part being done with the average American sticking to his wartime assignment, such a campaign would do more harm than good.

It's easy to talk about "cracking down." But Congress has never passed a National Service Act which would make a crackdown possible. And stringent measures are always greeted with cries of pain and rage. A provision in the tax bill which would have had the effect of compelling cavalry performers to seek jobs in war industry was the subject of widespread agitation that finally persuaded Congress to soften the law.

Government officials and production experts are now visiting production areas where the manpower shortage is most acute. One objective is to see to it that foundries which have been making castings for farm machinery turn back to the kind of production that will give the military the heavy trucks they need.

That could easily stir up a political hornet's nest. With Congress back in session, the farm lobby will certainly be out working for more farm machinery.

The shifting course of the war has a lot to do with these recurrent crises in manpower. If wars always went on a prearranged schedule, then it would be easy.

The need for heavy artillery ammunition has exceeded any demand foreseeable a year ago. Bombing from planes simply didn't turn the trick on the Siegfried line. Production schedules are doubled or tripled overnight.

The same thing happened with respect to trucks. Europe's railway system was destroyed from the air. Our armies, with their vast burden of supplies, had to move by motorized caravan.

Somehow, these shortages must be cured. Enforced silence for those big guns is intolerable. We, here at home, must pass the ammunition. I found that many industrial workers are weary. That is especially true of younger women. Many of them new to industry. But no one can be tired as the men who are fighting it out in Europe's mud.

England has had a National Service Act and some strikes. In Russia, non-producers go hungry. We have used the voluntary system, and while it is imperfect, it has carried us a long way.

CAREER
Untangle life, he never can.
The yours from mine; the young and old;
For all that fill the mortal span—
The fool, the sage, the weak, the bold.
With love and hate and hope and fear,
Are jumbled into one career.

Life for the brute is food and drink,
And sleep and purpose firmly fixed.
But man is privileged to think;
With countless lives his own is mixed.
He will, as time goes on, become
Of all adventure, here, the sum.

Of him the books he reads are part,
And every teacher, first and last.
For all that's of him, mind and heart,
His future, present and his past.
Into his gift of years are grown,
N mortal lives his life alone.

CONVINCIAL BLISS
"I have a friend, married for 10 years, who says she has never had a disagreement with her husband. Do you think this is possible?"

Answer: It sounds like the feminine counterpart of the popular joke: "Show me a man who says he has never had an argument with his wife and I'll show you a liar."

Seriously, it is, indeed, possible for two persons to live in perfect harmony for 10 years; yet I would say it's a rare but noble phenomenon. It is rather difficult for those constantly and closely associated to be in agreement on every subject. And it's forgivable and understandable when there is sporadic friction. But when there are disagreements, they should be discussed privately. The outside world, even the family, should not know that they take place.

If you have ever heard a nagging couple in action, you will appreciate the quiet, dignity of a harmonious married pair. Even the slightest disagreement before others is an indication of poor breeding.

Don't criticize your friend for her seeming perfection but congratulate her on her good fortune and good manners, in showing the world that she has dignity, good judgment and good breeding. 'Tis a shame, indeed, that there are not more like her!

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

VALUE OF THE COPYBOOK
Some of us, and still more of our forebears, wrote brief maxims or epigrams in our copy books, and read them in our grammars, often together with the name of the famous person who first wrote or said the maxim.

But for more than a score of years it was the fashion for professors of education to write in articles and books for teachers that the displaying and copying of maxims was a foolish waste of time. So effective was the educational propaganda of ridicule against maxims that they practically disappeared from the halls and classrooms of our schools, and with them went the copy book.

Nevertheless, all are slowly coming back. Among the several hundred school systems I visited last school year, I hit upon two school buildings where proverbs, maxims and slogans were strongly in evidence. Let me give here a few from the Elizabeth street school of Norwich, Conn., an elementary school building:

Good Maxims
A little care makes mishaps rare. When you receive a favor speak of it. When you do a favor forget it. There is a fortune in good manners. Time is money. Don't waste it. Have more than show. Speak less than you know. One today is worth ten tomorrows. Haste makes waste. Use no one's time nor money but your own. To have a friend you must be one. Truthfulness is the basis of good character. Well begun is half done. Politeness opens many doors. Hard work never hurt anyone. Plan your work. Work your plan. Be slow to promise but swift to keep your word. There's no time like the present. Manhood, not scholarship, is the aim of education. Win without boasting. Lose without excusing. He that cannot obey cannot command. This better to give than receive. Well done is better than well said. If you want knowledge you must toil. Never put off for tomorrow what you can do today.

Also let me give you a few of the maxims I saw displayed throughout the George Roger Clark school of Hammond, Ind. This school building housed all grades from the kindergarten to the 12th, inclusive.

One School's Slogans
There are usually three sides to all arguments—your side, the other fellow's side and the right side. Better suffer defeat than have cause to be ashamed of victory. A quitter never wins, and a winner never quits. Everything begins with an idea. The poor student who does his best each day will go farther in life than the brilliant student who is too inert to apply himself. Never leave that till tomorrow which you can do today. Every day something is being done that couldn't be done. There is no disgrace in having to spend twice as much time to make an assignment as someone else. The disgrace comes in giving up before you have mastered it. One way to keep your friends is not to give them away. I had no shoes and I complained until I met a man who had no feet. Easy street never leads anywhere. It would be fine for mother if she could collect time-and-a-half for overtime. I will study and get ready, and some day my chance will come. The man who waits for things to turn up finds his toes do it first. Some folks grow with responsibility, others just swell. No youth gets very far who burns midnight oil in an automobile. The deep dark secret of passing exams is to master each day's work as it comes along. What kind of school would this be if all the students were just like me?

Royalty came into the conversation the third time very quietly in my zoological park talk with young America. So prettily that I was almost persuaded to enjoy the breed again.

"We have two princesses, royal princesses, in our dancing class," said young America who happens to be a member of Mrs. Shippen's "elegant little group." I mean Princess Astrid and Princess Rasmil. They live out in Bethesda with their mother, Princess Martha. I think that's what her name is. Anyhow, their grandfather is a king. I think he's the king of Norway. Anyhow it's one of those countries way up there on the map.

"Sure I like 'em. Only they're so polite. They make us have better manners. Every time they meet anybody they curtsy and shake hands. And our mothers say, 'Why can't you be like the princesses?' Makes it kind of hard."

Though I do like the kids. They always come to the dancing class in long white dresses. Certainly they don't wear crowns. What do you think they are anyhow? They've got little chains with crosses around their necks. Sure they wear old slippers. But not very gold."

Royalty Seen As Extinct After The War
Stabilizing Effect Believed Vanishing
Princesses Set Mark For Young America

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Presidents, potentates and heroes are charging and champing all over the hemispheres in these war times. Now and then you hear somebody mention a king.

Yes, the word is "king," though it does have the comic adjectives "poor little" pinned on as decorations of the times. Indeed, I had almost forgotten there were such creatures about as kings until I heard the almost extinct race referred to three times the other day. Once by the State Department, which almost mentions nothing at all except in such concise language as "much can be said on both sides." Or "Information conveyed to the department seems to point to the fact that unless further developments nullify the knowledge already believed to be authentic, there is a strong likelihood that—"

To return—the word or the species "king" was discussed a second time by a person in a pulpit. The third time the once-thrilling title was spoken by a lady aged 13 whom I met in front of the bear den at the zoo.

Diplomat Speaks Mind
Said the State Department man, "I'm beginning to believe as I listen to the representatives of foreign countries now in Washington, that there will be very little royalty left anywhere after this war."

"You mean that the royalties haven't earned their truffles and tiaras lately and so they deserve to be pushed back into an age—say with the ichthyosaurs?"

"Don't be facetious," said the State Department man, going political. "I'm speaking seriously. It isn't what the royalties deserve or what happens to them that is disturbing most of their clear thinking subjects. The question I hear bootled around is whether or not royalty is good for any country. In most of the occupied countries it has been proved lately that royalty has definitely not that stabilizing effect it is assumed to have. Ergo (State Department language) why should people who have barely escaped with their lives be burdened with the clasp of ermine and crown jewels and not too intelligent princelings who fancy themselves at least semi-divine?"

"But if the not-too-intelligent princelings are merely figureheads? With no power. Sort of super movie stars to entertain the populace, what then?"

"I'm sure I'm in no position to talk as I do." The State Department man drew a blank over his face. Shut out his thoughts as you drop a venetian blind to shut out the light. "But I'll say this much. If those meandering King Carols and Prince Ottos and such ever get back to their thrones to stay, then the promised perfection of the world is just sample boloney."

"Pronounce the word, Boloney!" Now that our troops have been to the spot in Italy where the stuff came from," I said, and left the careless fellow where he stood beside the statue of Odysseus in the Mayflower lobby."

Princesses Too Polite
The Parson who discussed kings from the pulpit had been talking solemnly of the King of Heaven. "He is a King who will always endure." Unexpectedly, the parson changed his tone, jumped from his priestly role in voice and manner to: "As for the kings of the earth, they won't last much longer. In any country. The people are getting them out as fast as they can. Today it is the people who rule."

Decorations This Year? Sure, Make 'em Yourself

Making Christmas decorations isn't half as complicated as it seems to be before you learn a few tricks of the trade. A group of Girl Scout leaders discovered when they attended a recent "holiday workshop" in the Girl Scout offices.

Under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Clark, a member of the Girl Scout council, the girls began by making place cards for Christmas parties and finished up with floating candles and evergreen centerpieces guaranteed to stay fresh for six weeks.

Place Cards Simple

The place cards require only some small sprays of evergreen, some birthday cake-sized candles, and some white cards—filing cards turned plain-side-up will do. Place a small spray of the evergreens on a card in any position in which it is attractive. Light one of the candles where you wish to attach it to the card. Then, in the little pile of melted wax which is attaching the spray to the card, set one of the small candles upright, and hold it in position for several seconds until the wax hardens.

Marching across the front of a mantle or buffet, a line of little holiday wagons drawn by animal cracker animals would put any room a little more in the Yuletide mood. Tie a narrow bit of red ribbon around an animal cracker making a little bow just for decoration, and between the ribbon and the animal slip two toothpicks, one on either side of the little beast. These are the shafts of the wagon, so on the other end of them stick one marshmallow, preferably one that's not too fresh and yucky.

Don't Forget the Axel

Crosswise through the marshmallow, you slip another toothpick—the axle for the wheels which are the next thing you add. The wheels are just round pieces of colored paper—red or green, and there you have your wagon. Just to be extra festive, you can stick a small candle in the top of the marshmallow. Mrs. Clark is especially fond of a centerpiece made by filling a glass bowl with water, spreading evergreens on the surface and placing among them several small floating candles which you can buy or make yourself. If you wish to make them, merely melt down some old red candles, and pour the melted wax into gelatin molds. Don't make the candles too deep, or they won't float well. When the wax begins to harden, you can add the wick which is merely some cord which has been dipped into some of the wax so that a thin, stiffening cord is left.

This Job Is Muddy

Next comes the muddy job. The floor of the Girl Scout office was spotted with bits of moss, and the result was worth the effort, according to the leaders. Around a candle holder, Mrs. Clark forms a pile of closely packed, very wet moss, and around this moss and candle holder she ties three or four ordinary sheets of waxed paper, being careful not to tie the string directly over the top of the candle holder.

The result is something shaped like a round loaf of bread and its size depends on the ultimate size you want your centerpiece to be. You take your scissors and push a hole through the paper above the candle holder, making a place to put a red candle in, and then, with a nut pick you push through the paper wherever you wish to insert a spray of evergreen. You keep adding evergreen until the whole base of the piece is covered, and all you can see is the red candle rising out of the sprays. The wet moss keeps the green fresh indefinitely, says Mrs. Clark. Several times, perhaps twice a week, the centerpiece should be taken to the kitchen sink and sprinkled.

'Home Economics' Girls Learn How To Wear Their Clothes

High School Students Get Many Valuable Pointers In Classes Now In Progress

Home economics may be the official name of the course, but the girls enrolled in the high school "Home ec" laboratory learn a little more than just how to sew seems straight or how to make buttonholes, says Mrs. Viola Sadler, instructor in the department.

The course even goes as far as teaching the girls what to look for not just when they are buying material to make the dresses themselves, but when they are buying ready-made dresses.

Purpose is first consideration, Mrs. Sadler stated. A dress that's to be worn and then worn some more must have durability and attractiveness both, whereas an evening dress should have glamor and only enough durability to hold together.

for its brief life of three or four parties and dances.

Color and line suitable for each individual girl is another important field. Developing a critical taste they try on different colors and different types of dresses while their classmates give the verdicts of "does things," "neutral," or "simply awful." In this way they help each other to discover just what designs, what shades, and what materials do the most for their appearance.

Posture, too, is emphasized, as the real basis of good grooming. Mrs. Sadler added. Learning to walk, sit, and move gracefully is as much a part of the course as threading a needle.

These courses are open to girls outside of the home economics department for the first time this year, with two classes made up of members of other courses.

To Be Handed In By Friday Noon

Due to the increase of recruitment of nurses, an urgent demand for additional nurses aides has become necessary, and plans to receive new applicants are now underway.

With the return of many wounded service men, the women on the home front are asked to join the nurses aides corps, and replace the graduate nurses for active duty.

Mrs. Harry Barkby, chairman of the Lawrence County Red Cross Nurses Aides committee, asks that every woman think seriously about this matter, and to join the nurses aides corps, and give your service for your country and the boys.

Send your application to the Red Cross Chapter house before Friday at noon, so that the nurses aides committee will be ready on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock to interview all applicants.

Young women who plan to join but still hesitate, are urged to talk to any of the present nurses aides to find out what a worthy cause it is. Day workers in the nurses aides corps are especially needed.

Wounded Men To Get Yule Boxes

Perry S. Gaston Post Will Sponsor Christmas Boxes For Men In Hospitals

LOCAL CITIZENS CAN CONTRIBUTE

Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, will cooperate with the program of the National American Legion to provide Christmas boxes for wounded soldiers confined in the various hospitals of the nation, and is sponsoring the program locally. Under this plan, any citizen may contribute a Christmas box for a wounded soldier, and may place therein his personal card, if he wishes, so that the recipient can acknowledge the gift. These boxes will be accepted at the Legion Home and prior to Christmas a survey will be made of the various hospitals to determine the number of boxes needed at each hospital. They will then be sent to a central point and will be distributed from there to the different hospitals, under the state department of the American Legion.

In addition to the sponsorship given by the American Legion here, the plan is being boosted over a nationwide hookup each week.

None To Be Neglected
This plan will insure that no wounded soldier will be neglected at Christmas. With two big hospital units in this vicinity, local citizens know how welcome are the little kindnesses they show these men, who have gone through the torture and hell of battle for those kept in safety back home.

Later, the post will advise what kind of gifts to purchase to put in these boxes, so that a standardized package can be offered for these deserving men.

Commander Lee R. Hanna of Perry S. Gaston Post is general chairman of the local committee, with Edwin E. Marshall vice chairman. Others on the local post committee are Leon A. Drumm, Edson O. Womer, Clare B. Book, Orville Potter, Charles E. Allen, Earl Moffatt, Fire Chief James E. Thomas, Chief of Police Robert Hanna, Robert Speed, James R. Mead, Gene Schweinsberg, E. J. Fowler, E. J. Wreck Delays Main Line Train Service

NEWPORT, Pa., Nov. 15.—(INS)—Train service on the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line through Central Pennsylvania gradually returned to normal today, following an accident involving three trains near Newport, which left at least six persons injured.

According to carrier officials, a passenger train carrying soldiers sideswiped wreckage from two freight trains, which had collided a short time before.

An eastbound freight, 103 cars long, smashed head-on into a westbound 82-car freight, a spokesman said. The passenger train struck into this wreckage, completely blocking four tracks on the main Harrisburg-Pittsburgh run.

Standard Steel Spring Employees Top Bond Quota

Some days ago an article appeared in The News announcing that the Standard Steel Spring company plant employees had held a war bond rally and had set themselves a goal of $50,000 and were starting to overtake the quota. It was suggested in the article that if the spring employees did their usual job the quota would be met and topped.

With the opening of the sixth war loan campaign still four days away, the Standard Steel Spring men and women have passed their quota of $50,000 by $8,000, and the job isn't quite done yet.

As an inspiration for the rest of us, we'd suggest that this job is really something. New Castle's quota is $4,450,000. If the rest of the folks copy the Standard Steel Spring example, the campaign here will be short-lived and the quota will be passed. And that's not a bad idea.

Gen. Patton Is Carrying Out Desired Plan

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS. Allied Expeditionary Force, in France, Nov. 14.—(INS)—In striking smashing blows against Metz today, Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton finally got to do what he had anticipated joyfully for several weeks.

Authorities at headquarters revealed today that General Patton was "itching to get at Metz," which brought his earlier and greatest dash across France to an end and held his American Third Army in check for so long.

The current drive toward the fortress city would have been carried out several weeks ago if the general they call "old blood and guts" had been permitted to attack. His superiors approved the thrust only last week, headquarters revealed—and now "old blood and guts" is out for personal revenge against Metz.

Urges Repeal Of Johnson Act

Taft Would Repeal Measure Preventing Lending To Nations In Default

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—(INS)—Repeal of the Johnson act, which prohibits lending to governments in default to the United States, was advocated Tuesday by Charles P. Taft, director of the state department's office of wartime economic affairs.

Speaking before the Commonwealth club of San Francisco, Taft outlined the difficulties confronting many war-torn countries regarding foreign trade, and urged that these difficulties might be met in part by direct financing, both public and private, from the United States.

This, he said, would require repeal of the Johnson act and expansion of the lending authority of the export-import bank.

Referring to a congressional proposal to accomplish both of these things, Taft said "such a measure ought to be passed."

This was the first pronouncement by the state department in favor of repealing the Johnson act.

As an example of the need for American credits, Taft cited the trade problems of China, Italy and Greece, he said.

"Such nations have an economy which has almost completely run down, and stopped. They have no dollars, no sterling, and at the beginning they have nothing to offer in exchange in kind, or almost nothing."

"Then you have no alternative but find a way to help them get the materials that go into their export goods and to lend them the money to carry them until they can go it alone."

TO HONOR LOST BROTHERS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(INS)—

The navy announced today that a new destroyer named the U. S. S. Rogers will be launched at Orange, Tex., on Nov. 20, in honor of three brothers who lost their lives in action on the heavy cruiser U. S. S. New Orleans during the battle of Tassafarunga in November, 1942.

Mrs. Jack Ellis Rogers of Ormond, Fla., mother of the three boys, will christen the new warship.

Steiner's Store To Open Tonight

Informal Introduction Of New Business House To City To Occur This Evening

After several weeks of sawing, hammering and painting, the new store room at 209 East Washington street will officially open this evening as "Steiner's", a retail store specializing in curtains, infants' wear and ladies' wear.

The opening will be an informal introduction of the store to the public, with no sales being made until Thursday, the first business day for the new addition to the city's retail business. Under the management of James O. Criss, a local man who has had 16 years experience in retail stores, this store will handle merchandise sent out from the Steiner brothers' factory in Pittsburgh.

A graduate of Westminster college, Mr. Criss has worked in both New Castle and Pittsburgh, and now lives at 416 Park avenue. His store belongs to a young firm, only 10 years old, which has other stores in Pittsburgh, Beaver Falls, Washington, Pa., and Steubenville, Ohio.

Now engaged in manufacturing parachutes and jungle hammocks for the government, the Steiner company may not be able to supply all the curtains which customers would like to get, one of the Steiner brothers stated. This is a wartime condition, however, and will disappear with the war, he added.

Dickson Makes Hit At College Recital

Arousing more enthusiasm than any artist who has appeared in the college chapel for some time, Donald Dickson, young baritone, sang to a large audience at Westminster college Tuesday evening.

Opening with the customary classical numbers, Mr. Dickson presented a program which included everything from Handel's "Where'er You Walk" and "Nemico Della Patria" from Andrea Chenier to "Don't Ask Me Lawd" and "Woman Is a Sometime Thing" sung to suit even the die-hard jive fans.

Especially attractive was a group of gypsy songs by Dvorak, which Mr. Dickson sang without pause, his accompanist, Lawrence Stevens, played four widely-varied piano selections during the evening, three of them according to the program and one as an encore.

Predicts France Will Recover

LONDON, Nov. 15.—(INS)—Predicting that France will recover from her war wounds and proclaiming that Anglo-French friendship is based now on a more steady foundation than ever before, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden on Tuesday reported to the House of Commons on his and Prime Minister Winston Churchill's recent visit to Paris.

Eden described the conversations with General DeGaulle as "entirely satisfactory." He paid tribute to DeGaulle, referring to him as "unquestionably the inspirer and the man who personifies the unity of the French people."

Zelenople Seniors Rehearse Comedy

High School Students Prepare For Important Event Of Year
For Senior Class

(Special To The News)
ZELIENOPLE, Nov. 15.—Seniors of Zelenople high school are deep in preparation for the senior class play, a lively comedy called "Out of the Frying Pan," which will be given Friday evening, Dec. 1, at 8:15 in the high school auditorium.

The play starts off with three young men and three young women, would-be stage folk, who because of necessity are sharing the same apartment, which is above that of a Broadway producer who has a hit running. They rehearse the play, trying all the while to figure out how they can get the producer to see them.

Complicating their plans is a friend of one of the girls who threatens to tell the girls' father how she is living. In the meantime the producer, who is an amateur chef, has been mixing up an elaborate dish. When he runs out of flour he goes upstairs to borrow some and, as might be expected, after the young people once get him in they refuse to let him leave until they show him how they can act. Especially realistic is the murder scene they put on.

Taking the leads in the production are: Edna Kristophel as Marge and Richard Wardle as Tony. Supporting them are: William Henderson as Norman, David Wise as George, Marjorie Bollinger as Mrs. Gernet, Beverly Sohn as Muriel, Geraldine Capots as Kate, Alice Buehler as Dottie, Robert Robinson as Mr. Colburn, Frank Simons as Mr. Kenny, William Bhamme as the first policeman, and Walter Johnson as the second policeman.

Revenue Surplus In State Will Be Used To Cut Debt

HARRISBURG, Nov. 15.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Mann emphasized today that the commonwealth's anticipated $170,000,000 revenue surplus would be used for the retirement of net indebtedness, post war work and the reduction of taxes.

He explained, however, that a specific tax reduction program had not been drafted because budget estimates for the 1945-47 biennium had not been received from state departments and commissions.

Any tax reduction proposals, he declared, would be made with the aim of benefiting all tax payers and not certain levels.

"There are a lot of folks who think the tax structure of Pennsylvania should be revised but a lot of this agitation is to shift the burden from one group to another. Anything we do will be done with all the people of the state in mind."

He said real estate should not bear so much of the tax burden but pointed out that "all real estate taxes are imposed locally and Pennsylvania hasn't collected anything from that source for a long number of years."

Capt. Hoskins At Naval Hospital

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—(INS)—Twelfth Naval District headquarters revealed today that Captain John M. Hoskins, who was relieving commanding officer aboard the U. S. S. Princeton when the American carrier was lost in the second battle of the Philippines sea, is now under treatment at the Mare Island (Cal.) naval hospital.

Captain Hoskins, whose wife and three children live in Brookeville, Md., lost his right foot in the air-sea action and was among the first naval casualties returned to the United States in the fastest trip on record from the scene of a Pacific engagement.

Captain Hoskins was slated to relieve Captain William R. Bunker of Luray, Va., as commander of the Princeton. The navy said that Hoskins hopes to return to duty with an artificial foot within six months and quoted him as saying: "I'll be known as Ol' John Silver, peg-leg skipper of the ship."

Two More Yanks Also Remained In Philippines

By FRANK ROBERTSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LEYTE. (Delayed)—Two more Americans who stayed in the Philippines after the fall of Corregidor to become guerrilla leaders came in from their lonely mountain outposts today. With them they brought their families; both married Filipino girls during their long exile. The men are Captain Truman Hemingway, Sherburne Center, Vermont, and Lieutenant Gordon Lang, of New Ulm, Minnesota. Hemingway had been a radio operator in Captain Colin Kelly's B-17 squadron, and Lang a naval rating at Cavite.

Escaped In 1941

Hemingway escaped by boat to Mindanao Christmas 1941. When Mindanao surrendered on May 10th, 1942, he went into the hills and lived with Filipinos. He stayed in Mindanao for more than a year living precariously, always one jump ahead of patrolling Japanese. Early in 1943 he joined the Leyte guerrilla force, and in April he set up a radio station on Panaon Island, off the southern tip of Leyte; his job was to report movement of enemy shipping through the Surigao Strait, scene of the recent American naval victory.

During 1943 he organized and operated other radio stations in Samar and Leyte, returning to Panaon at the end of the year. While in Samar he married Katherine Gribbs, whose father, a ship's captain, had married a Filipino in Manila.

Katherine, a pretty and intelligent girl of twenty, is a naturalized American. "She's a grand girl," Hemingway said today. His father is a minister in the Episcopal church. A daughter was born to the Hemingways in a small Barrio in southern Leyte on December 6, 1943.

Forced Out

In January this year, Hemingway was forced out of Panaon by a patrol of 25 Japanese, who apparently had got wind of the location of the radio station. Hemingway took his radio to the Island of Dinagat, on the other side of the strait, and set up there.

The Japs continued to hunt him, and he had to move his station from time to time. One night a Filipino wakened Hemingway to tell him a party of 100 Japanese was only a mile away. From a nearby hill that night, the young American and his wife and three months old baby watched the enemy burn their small house and destroy their food supplies. But again Hemingway had saved his radio.

For three days after that the family lived on the hill in drenching rain, with only roots for food.

Joined By Lang

In February of this year Hemingway was joined by Lang, who had with him his Filipino wife and two months son. Lang had married a Cebu girl in Leyte in 1943. Before that he had a guerrilla "roop" in the hills of southern Leyte, which, he claims, killed at least twenty-five Japs.

The two Americans, helped by their wives, continued their important work on Dinagat Island until the American invasion. They had a grandstand seat for the battle of Surigao Strait, on October 25th. "Boy, that was a lulu," Hemingway said.

Both men are anxious to return to the United States, but both said emphatically they wouldn't leave without their families.

East Brook Class Will Present Play

Seniors To Perform, "The Poor Fish," Friday Evening, November 17, At 8:15 P. M.

Senior class of the East Brook high school will present the senior play, "The Poor Fish," on Friday evening, November 17, at 8:15 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

The play involves Sylvester Fish, a superstitious young man who calls off his wedding because he discovers it is Friday the 13th. Francine, his bride to be, becomes infuriated and vows never to have anything more to do with him.

Sylvester finds himself at the Rest Cure sanitarium later. The sanitarium is claimed by four different persons, and the situation becomes quite muddled, until it is all straightened out.

The cast consists of Jane McKnight, Sylvia McConnell, Jean Brayner, Eleanor Pearl, Alice Dicks, Gladys Patterson, Elmer Morran, Robert Patton, Reese Wynder, Charlotte Bielak, Eleanor Hunt, Elinore Pettit, Earl McConahy, Ralph Robinson, Shirley Stunkard and J. Black.

Bessemer Soldiers Meet In New Guinea

Mr. and Mrs. George Benson of Bessemer have received a letter from their son, Sgt. Don E. Benson, stating that he had met Dick Scott of Bessemer and had a nice visit with him.

This is the first person he has met from this vicinity since he has been overseas for 34 months. He enlisted in the service three years ago last June, and has not had a furlough since that time.

Sgt. Benson is attached to the air corps, and stationed in New Guinea. He states that he expects to be home about the first part of December for 30 days furlough.

Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐ YES ☐ NO

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable. Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

MILITARY BALLOTS SLOWER

In the past few days the return of military ballots has slowed to a dribble and it begins to appear that the estimated 3000 ballots may be down to little over 2800. At noon Tuesday there were 2519 ballots returned properly sworn and signed and 90 with either the signature missing or the notarization. If these are counted the total stands at 2609.

The local board of elections has ruled that all ballots received on November 22 will be counted if the ballot bears the date not later than November 7. The ballots are to be counted on November 22.

At present the ballots are locked up in a steel compartment of the commissioners' vault to which only William A. Eakin, chief clerk, has the key.

INSPECTING ARMORIES

Major Frank W. Hill, county controller, is away until Friday, inspecting armories in the western part of the state, in company with other staff officers of the 16th regiments, Pennsylvania State Guard. On Sunday afternoon the Joseph V. Cunningham Armory will be inspected by Col. Roger G. Woodside and staff officers and the local armory board.

Corporal Captures Flag; Sends It Home

More German trophies are arriving in this district, this time at the home of Mrs. Edna Parker, of Rose Point, whose son, T. Cpl. James L.

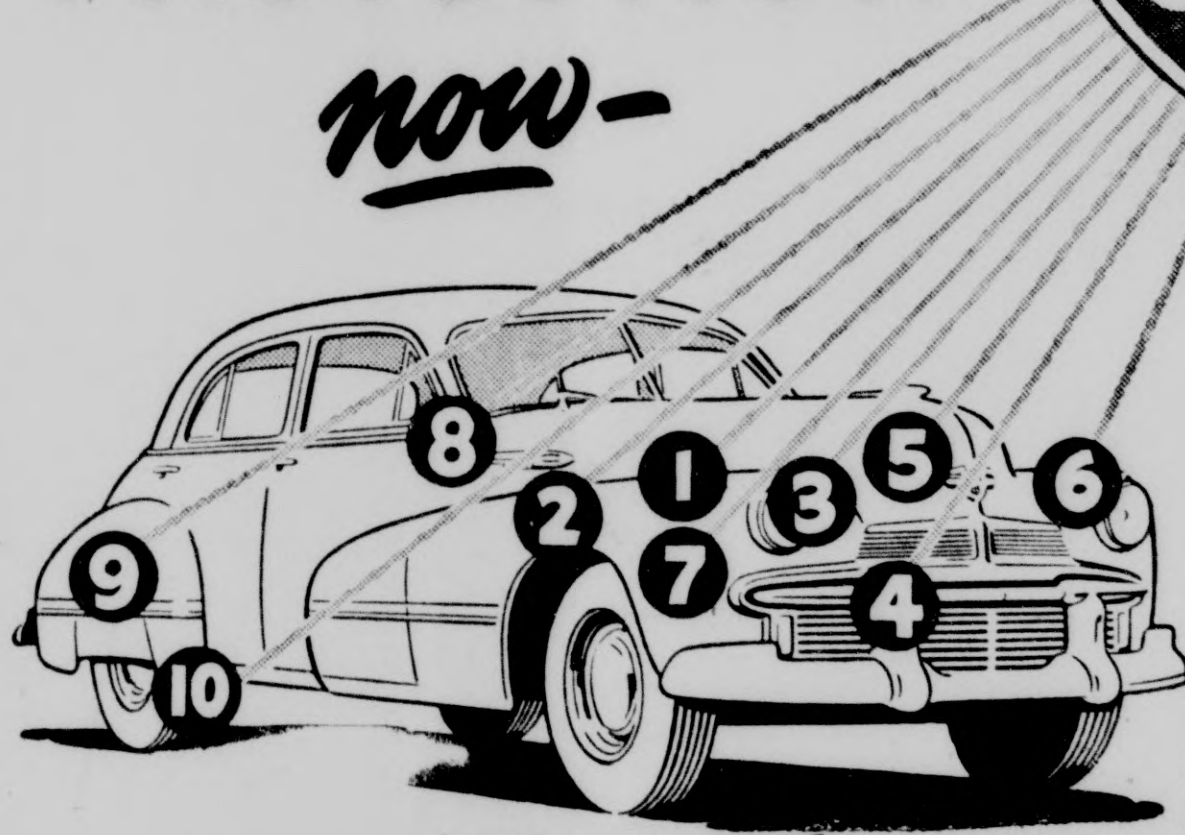

Stewart has captured and sent home a Nazi flag and some razor blades.

The story connected with the capture will be told only "when I get home," writes the corporal. In service for three years and overseas for two years, Cpl. Stewart is a veteran of North Africa, Sicily and Normandy, and is now serving in Germany.

One of the richest and most beautiful color schemes is brown, a deep lustrous brown, spiced with delicate yet positive pink. Jaekel uses it for one of the season's prettiest coats. "Fantasy" pink woolen is used for the body of the coat, with nutria for the wide tuxedo panels and for the easy sleeves that are worked into a wide cuff.

New Castle's quota is $4,450,000 which is a not inconsiderable sum but is less than the fifth campaign quota was. Mrs. John E. Elliott is the chairman of the women's division and has asked that the women workers be present Friday night for the organization meeting.

Union Senior Play Is Friday Evening

Cast Of Nine, Plus Committees And Ushers, Prepare For Big Event Of Senior Year

Reveling in mystery drama, seniors of Union high school are ready for the dress rehearsal of their senior play, "As The Clock Strikes", which will be given Friday evening, November 17, at 8:15 in the high school auditorium.

The young actors and actresses taking part in the comedy are: Donald Kooker, playing the part of Nick Bolton, host on a paying-guest house party; Cramer Gorley, as William, an old family servant; Kenneth Hanna as Alex Manchester, a playwright; Frances Ambrosia as Nancy Arnold, Nick's fiancée; Jane Thellman as Madge Keating, an outdoor friend; Rose Navarra as Mrs. Randolph, a nice old lady; Thomas Bees as Jim Keating, Madge's husband; Robert Cooper as Sam Randolph, amiable son of Mrs. Randolph, and Louis Dell as Lucius Deere, a stranger.

With this strange assortment of people, the play opens in the drawing room of Nick Bolton's country house by the sea, somewhere in New England. The first act is at 11 o'clock at night, the second is at 3 o'clock in the morning and the third act takes place 25 hours later at 4 o'clock the next morning.

The play is being directed by Miss Erma E. Paden. Student members of the various committees include: tickets, Patricia Wheaton, Leona Plonka, Louie Krueger and Robert Shugrue. Stage managers are Robert Pinkerton, William Cox and Robert Jackson. Ushers will be Jean Frock, Erma Goodge, Patricia Goske, Pauline Griddle, Barbara Ilich, Donna Park, Jean Thomson, Elsie Twigg and Marie Veronsei.

John J. Presnar, son of Mrs. Rose Presnar, 140 Oakland avenue, has been promoted to pharmacist mate second class. He has been stationed in the South Pacific area for over a year.

Percy White, of Garfield avenue, has received a letter from his brother, Lester R. White, E.M. 3-c, who is in the Mediterranean area with the U.S. Fleet, in which he told of the extensive damage done to port facilities by the retreating Germans, and by the attacks of the Yank ships and planes.

Deshon Annex Vets Guests Of Renfrews

Pig Roast Tendered Annex Veterans At Sylvan Heights Golf Club Tuesday Night

Wounded veterans stationed at the Deshon Annex enjoyed an unusual party Tuesday night, in the Sylvan Heights Golf club house when they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. De Grimm Renfrew, of East street. Mr. and Mrs. Renfrew celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Sunday, November 12, and felt they would sooner tender the veterans a party than enjoy the occasion only themselves.

Two young pigs were roasted to a turn and cut up for the party, and with this were bread, celery, olives, radishes and coffee, topped off with a host of apple pies and cheese. Some idea of the enjoyment of the men was seen in the condition of the meat platters when the party was over, the two pigs had disappeared.

Clifford James was at the piano all evening for group singing and Walter Donnelly, well known bass-baritone was the soloist of the evening. Old songs and new songs, war songs of the first World War and the present one all of them had their turn in the group singing and from 7:30 until 11:15 the men enjoyed a party without regimentation or formality. Their hearty appreciation was conveyed to Mr. and Mrs. Renfrew.

EXPECT DECISION SOON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(INS)—Rear Admiral Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short, commanders at Pearl Harbor at the outbreak of war, were expected today to learn before Dec. 7, third anniversary of the Japanese attack, whether they are to be court-martialed or exonerated.

It was reliably reported in congressional circles that a "final determination" of the Pearl Harbor question, a hot issue in the presidential campaign, will be made public within the next few weeks.

WORST FOG

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 15.—Mucky fog enveloped the Pittsburgh district for the second consecutive time yesterday, paralyzing air traffic and slowing street cars, buses and automobiles.

Trolley traffic was delayed anywhere from 10 minutes on local lines to 30 on the interurbans. On streets and highways, automobiles crawled along bumper to bumper.

W. S. Brozman, weather observer in Pittsburgh for 29 years, described the fog yesterday and Monday as "the worst I've ever seen here".

Have a "Coke" = ¡Adelante con la musica!

(GET IN THE GROOVE!)

...or getting along in Guatemala

Music makes friends among our Latin-American neighbors, just as it does here at home. There's another custom that helps make friends even faster. It's the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola. Have a "Coke" is an invitation of welcome as quickly understood in Guatemala as in Georgia. In many lands around the globe, Coca-Cola has become the same symbol of friendliness that it is in your own living room.

Labor Machinery May Be Revamped

Situation Opportune For Re-organization By President Is General Belief

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Administration quarters are speculating on the question of whether President Roosevelt may revamp the government's labor machinery.

Although there was no indication as to the ultimate White House course, observers pointed out that the situation is exceedingly opportune for a reorganization.

Factors in Situation

These factors appear to make it

1. WLB Chairman William H. Davis, Vice Chairman George W. Feltner and Dr. Frank P. Graham, three original public members of the War Labor Board, have asked to be relieved of their duties before the first of the year. The fourth member, Wayne Morse, long since resigned and has been elected to the senate from Oregon.

2. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, under fire for many years from labor, the press, and other quarters, reportedly has been ready and willing for some time to step out at the slightest hint from the White House.

3. Dr. John R. Steelman, head of the department of labor's conciliation service for many years and well accepted in the ranks of labor, has resigned his post. Steelman, it is believed, would be an acceptable candidate as secretary of labor should a change be made.

Under Attack

4. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey made a major issue of what he termed the administration's mis-handling of labor relations and promised, if elected, to appoint a secretary of labor from the ranks of labor and make the department responsible for the government's labor program, thus focusing public attention on the issue.

5. The WLB has been in a more or less turbulent state recently, with AFL members having withdrawn from participation in individual cases involving the "little steel" formula.

6. Both AFL and CIO have been waging an incessant campaign for upward revision of the administration's wage freeze to permit a general wage increase to stimulate post-war purchasing power.

Wampum School Boy Writes To Jungle Lad

Koppel Soldier Is Good-Will Ambassador In Boy's International Friendship

American soldiers are not only fighters apparently, they are also ambassadors to people whose lives have been confined to small jungle villages, according to a letter received by a Wampum school boy from another school boy whose father is chief of a head-hunter tribe.

Dobura is the name of the South Seas jungle boy, and the Wampum fourth-grader who received his letter is Roger Mangerie. Their friendship was made possible by Anthony Izzo, a young soldier from Koppel, who is stationed on the island.

Dobura's letter is as follows: "Dear Roger and Christine: My name is Dobura. I am six years old and I go to Mission school. My father is big chief of native village jungle. I like American soldier very much. They chase all Japanese away. Japanese very bad people. They hit us and kill people. I like Tony. He give me candy and chewing gum and pencil and paper. I have two monkeys—name Gora and Pete—American soldier name him Pete. Good-by Roger and Christine. Also I like God a real lot."

The spitting snake, found in South Africa, received its name from the fact that it sometimes ejects a venomous spray from its mouth when annoyed. It is related to the cobras, but only attains a length of about two or three feet.

See Move To Give France Separate Zone In Germany

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—(INS)—A new move to assign France a separate zone of Germany for post-war occupation was regarded in official circles today as a certain outcome of discussions between the French, British, and American governments.

Already the Anglo-French phase of these discussions has taken place in Paris between Prime Minister Churchill and General Charles De Gaulle. Reports from Paris today indicate that these two officials have reached an agreement in principle to give France a zone of occupation in Germany.

But before this can become final, Washington officials said, it must have the approval of the United States government. There was no disposition in Washington to oppose such an arrangement.

This would mean that instead of dividing Germany into three zones, to be occupied by British, American and Soviet forces, there would be a four-way division, to include France as well.

It is believed that this new division will not, however, affect the zone assigned to Soviet forces, namely the entire eastern part of the Reich. Officials said the French zone probably would be "nickel" out of the zones previously assigned to the British and American forces.

Boys Who Went Overseas Lately To Be Remembered

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 15.—(INS)—The boys who shipped overseas last month won't be forgotten by Santa Claus if post office officials can help it. Postmaster Joseph F. Gallagher told Philadelphians today that Christmas parcels may be mailed until December 10 to troops who were enroute overseas on Oct. 16, 1944, the deadline for mailing presents to service men already over there.

The post office ruling stipulated that those wishing to mail such packages must present the change of address notification from the war department.

Tusks are produced on both sexes of the African elephant, but they seldom occur on the females of the Asiatic or Indian species.
